

CCP Overview

The Public Safety Realignment of 2011 constituted a significant system change in adult corrections, shifting the responsibilities for incarceration and supervision of certain felony offenders from state prison and parole to County jail and Probation.

The realigned populations include: a) non-serious, non-violent, non-sex offenders without prior convictions (PC 1170(h)); b) offenders released from state prison under post-release community supervision (PRCS); and c) parole violators.

This change generated a significant impact on Probation, with an increased span of control for community supervision, and on the Sheriff’s Jail operations, for sentences previously served in State prison and now shifted to local custody.

The overall realignment objective is to reduce the recidivism rate of adult offenders in the local criminal justice system through the use of evidence-based practices, a system of intermediate sanctions, more intensive probation supervision, and evidence-based rehabilitation programs.

Community-based corrections programs require a partnership between local public safety entities and the County to implement and expand the use of community-based sanctions for realigned offender populations.

Pursuant to Penal Code 1230, Monterey County established a local Community Corrections Partnership (CCP) to advise Probation in developing and implementing the community corrections program, and to recommend a local plan for approval by the Board of Supervisors.

The Community Corrections Partnership’s voting body, the Executive Committee (EC), and its membership is established by Penal Code 1230.1.

The CCP is chaired by the Chief Probation Officer and is composed of 14 members; the EC is composed of 7 voting members.
