

Anne Marie Rosen: educator, agriculturist

I am seeking re-election to the CUSD school board. I am a local businesswoman, lifelong Carmel Valley resident, and former educator with 35+ years of teaching experience, including as a former CHS math teacher. I hold a BA in economics from UC Berkeley and a MA in cross-cultural education. While in office, I earned a master's in governance.

Over the past four years I have prioritized student learning and safety, as well as district transparency, public responsiveness, and fiscal accountability. I have also achieved demonstrable results toward each of my established goals: disaster preparedness protocols, bringing independent study in-house, and career technical education. I have asked difficult questions and demanded answers within the district, while engaging openly with the public and within our school sites.

I will work to bring student learning back to the core of our district focus, including social and emotional learning as well as strong foundational skills. I seek to ensure that our students are prepared for their future, including college, careers, and adulthood. I will continue to use my experience and passion to keep our students at the center of every decision.
